General Coppinger Warn's Against Stirring Up a Real Indian War.

JACKSON'S HOLE, Aug. 2, VIA MAR-

JACKSON'S HOLE, Aug. 2, VIA MARKET LAKE, IDAHO, Aug. 5.—General Coppinger sent a message by General Stitzer to-day to the Governor of Wyoming, telling him that the Wyoming people most not be allowed to get frightened in other sections and shoot Indians in their panie, or there would certainly be a good old Indian war in earnest. The present affair was a flash in the pan, but it would be easy enough to get up a real war.

There is no reason to believe that there is any more danger at Swan Creek or Gray's Mountain, or any other points now sending out alarming reports, than there is right here. General Coppinger received a telegram to-day stating that two hundred hostiles were in one particular section of the country, and that the situation was critical. The next courier brought another telegram Leserting that indians were merely returning to their reservations, and so it goes.

It is certain that the men who stirred up this trouble are guides; that they are men without particular standing or property, and that they scared real settlers into joining in the hue and cry about the Indians.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—Commissioner of Indian Affairs Browning today received the following telegram:

"POCATELLO, IDAHO, Aug. 3.—All Indians from the reservation have returned. They had a big council and requested me to telegraph you that their hearts felt good. The advance on weaving schedule is about seven and a half per cent, although the rate varies in different mills, due to the fact that on low pick work, the rate must be proportionately better to enable weavers to get fair wages. This difference is in all the weaving schedules.
